ABOUT THE GRAPHIC STYLE GUIDE

The PCOM Graphic Style Guide has been created to serve as a resource for printed and online materials for PCOM and its additional locations. Use of this Graphic Style Guide will ensure that a consistent image of PCOM is presented both internally and externally.

Please note that this document is an evolving document; it will be updated as necessary by the Office of Marketing and Communications.

LOGO REGISTRATION AND USAGE

Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine's trademark is a recognizable sign, design and expression that identifies the College from other companies, universities or products. The trademark is federally registered and protected by the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Unauthorized use of the College's marks, including any production or sale of unauthorized products or services, is trademark infringement, and a violation of the Federal Lanham Trademark Act of 1946, the Federal Trademark Act of 1984, and state trademark and unfair competition laws, among others.

PCOM has the following items federally registered: the College flame, the College wordmark, the College seal and nameplate (examples below).

The College requires anyone using (with official permission) PCOM's federally registered trademarks for any purpose outside of official College printed materials and publications to use the PCOM logo with the federally registered trademark symbol ®. The use of this symbol will help to preserve the College's brand reputation.

PCOM®

OSTEOPATHIC

PCOM®

Requirements for using the PCOM flame logo requiring the federally registered trademark symbol apply to:

- College branded merchandise
- College branded giveaways
- External College-approved retailers
- External corporate sponsorships

Any request to use the PCOM logo must be made through the Office of Marketing and Communications (communications@pcom.edu) and should be printed through a College-approved vendor. PCOM Printing Solutions is a resource for the ordering of general promotional products.

Unregistered trademarks are denoted by a ™ following the name or mark. If a trademark bears the ™, it is not federally registered but is still a recognized College trademark. The ™ is to be used for any purpose outside of official College printed materials and publications and applies to all requirements in the bulleted list above.

There is a series of guidelines that must be followed when printing the College logos:

FEDERALLY REGISTERED AND UNREGISTERED TRADEMARK GUIDELINES

Federally registered and unregistered trademark symbols need not appear when used for internal College business and/or when the full College name accompanies the trademark symbol (e.g. business cards, stationery, on-campus signage).

Any official external, high-volume, high-visual trademark usage must be denoted with the ® or ™ symbol (e.g. advertisements, billboards, brochures, special event invitations).

Use of College trademarks on merchandise or in relation to goods and services requires the ® or ™ symbol as well as the express permission of Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine.

This policy applies to all students, alumni, faculty, staff, manufacturers, retailers and customers. In order to comply with and ensure protection under trademark law, the College is required to monitor and control all uses of its trademarks. For more information, please contact the Office of Marketing and Communications: 215-871-6300 or communications@pcom.edu.

For more information, please refer to page 5 for the College's Federally Registered Trademark Statement.

COLLEGE BRAND CAMPUS AND ADDITIONAL LOCATION IDENTIFIERS

The PCOM logo and wordmark, without an additional location identifier, is to be used when referencing the overarching degree-granting institution or when referencing more than one location. For example, all non-location specific admissions materials will use one PCOM wordmark without a campus identifier.

The PCOM wordmark with a location identifier will only be used when referencing a specific location outside of Philadelphia.

In running copy, the College's branch campus and additional location will be referenced as "PCOM Georgia" and "PCOM South Georgia."

A WORD ABOUT TRADEMARK - INTERNAL VS. EXTERNAL

All PCOM logos and wordmarks, with or without an additional location identifier, are to be used with the trademark symbols for all printed pieces which are created for external audiences such as ads, brochures, and publications. For on-campus signage, internal digital and printed signage, for internal audiences, the trademark symbols are not needed.

BOOKSTORE GUIDELINES

PCOM operates an on-campus bookstore kiosk, managed by PCOM Printing Solutions as well as a virtual bookstore for educational supplies, medical supplies/instruments, notebooks, stationery, desk and room accessories, gift items, class and alumni rings and jewelry and clothing, including any and all such items bearing any Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine logo or other identifying mark, managed by the Bursar's Office. Merchandise bearing the PCOM logo or wordmark must be approved by the Office of Marketing and Communications (for proper usage) before product purchase or sale.

The bookstores at PCOM Georgia and PCOM South Georgia are also run internally by the administrative service and events manager, out of the Office of the Chief Campus Officer. Merchandise requiring the PCOM Georgia logo or wordmark must be approved by the Office of Marketing and Communications (for proper usage) before product purchase or sale.

Bookstore managers and/or buyers should reference this Graphic Style Guide regarding logo and wordmark usage rights and consult the Office of Marketing and Communications as required.

NON-PROFIT GIVEAWAY GUIDELINES

When using any of the PCOM logos for non-profit organizations or gift products (giveaways), it is important to refer to the logo standards. PCOM Printing Solutions offers PCOM, its branch campus, additional location, student organizations, and departments the service of ordering general promotional products and giveaway items for their activities and events. This centralized process will help maintain the College's brand image and will guide organizations and students in their research for competitive product pricing.

DEPARTMENT GUIDELINES

An organization's logo is one of its most valuable tools in the marketplace. It draws that value through consistent, repeated use across all of the organization's departments and programs and strengthens the overall brand through the public's collective experiences and interactions with the logo.

In an effort to preserve the value and impact of the PCOM logo, the Office of Marketing and Communications does not permit the use of, nor support the creation of, logos for individual departments, divisions, offices or programs.

Upon request, the Office of Marketing and Communications can modify the existing wordmark and/or logo to include the name of a specific department, division, office or program.

See samples below:

STUDENT GUIDELINES

Student groups that wish to use the trademarked PCOM logo or wordmark must use it in conjunction with the group name. For example, a shirt for the Pediatrics Club would say "PCOM Pediatrics Club" alongside the PCOM logo or the PCOM wordmark. The PCOM Flame logo is preferred if it is our primary mark, but workmarks and nameplates can be used. Permission must be granted by the Office of Student Affairs. The Office of Marketing and Communications will assist with producing logos, but must have a Marketing and Communications work request completed and approved by a staff member from the Office of Student Affairs.

Certain student clubs cannot create logos specific to their group. Student clubs that have official/national (e.g. national fraternities, associations, etc.) chapter logos may use the chapter logo along with the College name.

Please refer to the Student Organization Club Handbook available through the Office of Student Affairs for full guidelines.

See samples below:

* Previously designed logos that are still correct in the new naming conventions of the College will be legaced in with the new College brand.

SUB-IDENTITY EXTERNAL LOGOS

PCOM's identity system recognizes that there are a few units of the College that fall under the nature of the College's core identity, but they have their own personalities and missions. At the same time, they are linked to the core identity for strategic purposes. The goal is to allow individual units to express their own identities while concurrently projecting a relationship to the College.

THESE UNITS:

Serve or support an exclusive audience.

Offer products or services different from the primary functions of the College.

Use a different visual identity, but it is still obviously related to the core identity.

Even those units who qualify for sub-identity external logo usage are urged to use this approach sparingly. They must properly incorporate the College visual brand into their identity, both in the logo and in any collateral materials.

EXTERNAL SAMPLES:

Sub-identity logos incorporate College nameplates, fonts and color palettes.

Previously designed logos that are still correct in the new naming conventions of the College will be legaced in with the new College brand.

All sub-identity logos must be approved by senior level administration and created by the Office of Marketing and Communications.

SUB-IDENTITY INTERNAL LOGOS

PCOM's identity system recognizes that there are a few units of the College that fall under the nature of the College's core identity, but they have their own personalities and missions. At the same time, they are linked to the core identity for strategic purposes. The goal is to allow individual units to express their own identities while concurrently projecting a relationship to the College.

At present, there are three units that use a sub-identity internal logo to:

Serve or support a specific internal audience (employees and students)

Offer products or services different from the primary functions of the College (internal – employees and students)

Each office is urged to use this approach sparingly. In addition, they must properly incorporate the College visual brand into their identity, both in the logo and in any collateral materials.

Sub-identity logos incorporate College nameplates, fonts and color palettes.

Previously designed logos that are still correct in the new naming conventions of the College will be legacied in with the new College brand.

All sub-identity logos must be approved by senior level administration and created by the Office of Marketing and Communications.

RGB and web values are often used for logos that are online. Primarily, any trademarked PCOM logo is already in web-ready format such as .JPG or .GIF provided by the Office of Marketing and Communications (communications@pcom.edu). Occasionally, external web support teams need to have the logo in on-screen values.

PCOM's secondary colors are used less often but are still prominent. They are primarily used in College-produced marketing materials created in the Office of Marketing and Communications.

ACCESSIBLE COLOR COMBINATIONS

PCOM brand colors are bold and eye catching, but we realize that some color combinations may not be the best for some users. Below is a simple chart to finding more accessible color combinations in the PCOM brand.

		TEXT COLORS
		White	Light Blue	Yellow	Red	Maroon	Cyan	Dark Blue	Dark Navy
BACKGROUND COLORS	White	X	X	X	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	YES	YES
	Light Blue	X	X	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	X	YES	YES
	Yellow	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	X	X	X	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD
	Red	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	X	X	X	BIG/BOLD
	Maroon	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	X	X	X	BIG/BOLD
	Cyan	BIG/BOLD	X	X	X	X	BIG/BOLD	YES
	Dark Blue	YES	YES	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	X	YES
	Dark Navy	YES	YES	BIG/BOLD	BIG/BOLD	YES	BIG/BOLD	X

The colors on either side of this chart can be used for text or background.

Where possible, try to stick with the “YES” options as they are the most accessible.

The “BOLD /BIG” requires at least 14 point font (typically 19 pixels) and bold, or at least 18 point font (typically 24 pixels) when not bold; to be used as head-lines and subheads.

The PCOM brand uses three approved typefaces:

GT WALSHEIM

Used for display type such as headlines and large bold express type. Created by Grilli Type Foundry. Ownership of this font is strictly within the Office of Marketing and Communications and is to be used for College promotional pieces. It is recommended that the OpenType font family is to be used prior to the TrueType family of fonts for readability issues.

AVENIR

Used for body copy, information charts, and other smaller type uses. Created by Linotype Type Foundry. This type can be used across both campuses as most computers have had the Avenir font loaded onto their systems by ITS.

Inter

The preferred font for PCOM websites; a free font available for download through Google fonts. Inter is a web-safe, accessible, fast-loading and cross-browser compatible alternative to Avenir that does not require ongoing licensing for use.

LOGO AND WORDMARK USAGE

VERTICAL FLAT

VERTICAL DIMENSIONAL

In 2024, Marketing and Communications worked with branding firm 160over90 to update the flame logo for a refreshed and streamlined look. The PCOM flame logo has been refined and now uses our brighter red of our color palette against a blue shield background. The letters PCOM appear below in our brand font GT Walsheim with the letters justified left and right to width of the shield.

When on a dark background, the letters PCOM are reversed out and display in white. All other aspects of the logo are the same.

There is also a new dimensional logo that can be used for added effect, depending on your project. This is a full color reproduction with the added dimension so it is not recommended for some printed pieces but can be used often for digital display.

The PCOM flame logo is used for College signage, marketing and promotional materials, and simply as an identifier for Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine.

The updated PCOM flame logo is currently undergoing an updated federal registration. It cannot be altered, copied or recreated in any way.

The updated PCOM flame logo continues to be the primary mark of the College and should be used above all others.

HORIZONTAL FLAT

HORIZONTAL DIMENSIONAL

Branding firm 160over90 also created a horizontal version of the flame logo for additional uses. The letters PCOM can appear to the right of our flame and centered with the vertical height of the shield.

When on a dark background, the swap of color rule still applies. The letters PCOM are reversed out and print in white. All other aspects of the logo are the same.

As with the vertical logo, there is also a new dimensional horizontal logo that can be used for added effect, depending on your project. This is a full color reproduction with the added dimension so it is not recommended for some printed pieces but can be used often for digital display.

PCOM FLAME LOGOS - ONE COLOR

The PCOM one-color flame logos may be reproduced in two formats: greyscale and one-color 100% black. The one-color outline format is specifically used for logo imprinting on various giveaways and PCOM materials with imprinting techniques that cannot handle halftones.

These logo is only to be used on a project approved by the Office of Marketing and Communications.

NO LETTERS BELOW

According to PCOM standards, you MUST keep the letters "PCOM" with the flame at all times.

WRONG LOGO ON WRONG BACKGROUND

Make sure to use the alternate logo with the yellow PCOM letters on dark backgrounds or the logo with the blue PCOM letters on light backgrounds.

MORE THAN ONE LOGO

Only the PCOM flame logo, without an identifier, is to be used on promotional pieces or presentations about the College as a whole.

The PCOM flame logo with a location identifier may be used when referencing a specific location outside of Philadelphia.

It is mission critical that the College build national recognition as an overarching degree-granting institution and when necessary, delineate additional locations.

Below are a few frequently asked questions asked about the identity system.

WHICH LOGO SHOULD I USE ON MY PROJECT?

When referring to the College as a whole (representing more than one location), the PCOM flame logo should always be used. When referring to a specific location, please use the PCOM flame logo with the campus identifier.

CAN I USE TWO OR THREE OF THE LOGOS ON MY PROJECT?

No, you cannot.

CAN I USE THE PCOM FLAME LOGO AND A WORDMARK WITH THE CAMPUS IDENTIFIER?

Again, that would not adhere to PCOM style guidelines and should only be used in limited situations. Please contact Marketing and Communications for permission.

CAN I USE JUST THE PCOM WORDMARK?

The PCOM flame logo is the primary mark of the College and should be used above all others. However, there will be situations where the PCOM flame logo will not meet certain parameters. In those situations, the wordmark or nameplate can be used. Please contact Marketing and Communications for permission.

WHERE CAN I GET THE HIGH RESOLUTION LOGO?

You can get a copy of the logo in the file format requested by contacting PCOM Marketing and Communications at communications@pcom.edu.

When in doubt, please contact us with any questions you may have regarding the new identity system.

We are here to help!

The federally registered PCOM wordmark uses the new brand font, GT Walsheim (owned by the Office of Marketing and Communications) with each line or combination of words in a different brand color.

It can be used in one-, two-, and four-line formats, in both dark and light color schemes.

Most instances the logo is printed in four-color, however, there are times when a one-color option is needed. Please print the one-color logo in either black and white or in a brand specific color.

The new PCOM nameplate is an identifier of the College. It took on a new design after our new brand launch in 2015 using our brand font GT Walsteim. It is a federally registered trademark.

It can be used one-color; primarily in black, PCOM Blue, PCOM Dark Red or PCOM Yellow.

The PCOM nameplate is an identifier of the College. It was originally created in the traditional PCOM font that is used in the PCOM flame logo - Caslon 224 Black.

It can be used one-color; primarily in black, PCOM Blue, PCOM Dark Red or PCOM Yellow.

See samples below:

The PCOM and location specific nameplates are to be used only by the Office of Marketing and Communications at their discretion. These nameplates can be used if parameters don't comply for PCOM flame logo usage. These files will be used primarily in a digital advertising setting for a specific location.

The PCOM flame logo is the primary mark of the College and should be used above all others.

On an as-requested basis, the PCOM and location specific nameplates can be used by itself, with a color bar, or other branding elements or images to establish a cohesive branded graphic. Because the school names contain the PCOM nameplate, the federally registered trademark ® is used.

The location specific nameplates will only be used when referencing a location other than the degree-granting institution.

COLLEGE ACADEMIC SEAL

The College seal is the most formal of all College identifiers. It is used for formal academic functions such as Commencement and is placed on printed materials such as certificates and diplomas. While the seal is not the official logo of the College, it does signify the official nature of a document or an event. Unlike to the flame logo, the seal should not be used for most occasions.

PCOM's system of Healthcare Centers has its own logo. The logo has been created to differentiate the PCOM Healthcare Centers from the College and to give the centers a strong identity in their communities. This logo can be created in one-color and three-color and can be obtained from the Office of Marketing and Communications when being used for promotion of the Healthcare Centers. Only for this logo will the font Avenir be used on the words "Healthcare Center." These are the only instances in PCOM promotion, including signage, where you will see these fonts. See examples below:

ONE-COLOR:

For the PCOM initials the standard rules apply. "Healthcare Centers" is in Avenir type printed on one line in black. Below that the brand color bar goes to full black and is aligned with the bottom of the shield of the logo.

FOUR-COLOR:

DIVISION DESIGNATION:

When the division of the PCOM Healthcare Center is needed, it is below the color bar in GT Walsheim font in PCOM blue, aligned left with the color bar and text above and aligned with the baseline of the bottom of the blue shield of the PCOM flame logo. Reminder of the logo shifts up and aligns with top of blue shield.

In January 2024, Family Medicine at PCOM was renamed the Joseph M. Hassman, DO '65 Family Medicine Center. As a result, a new logo was created.

This logo can be created in one- or full-color and can be obtained from the Office of Marketing and Communications. See examples below.

Using consistent email signatures for College email accounts is an opportunity to create brand alignment while relaying relevant contact information. Consistent and clear email signatures present a professional appearance for conducting business through email.

New recommendations are to avoid logos and social media icons in email signatures; many users process them as attachments or block them by default.

Do not personalize your College signature with additional quotes, images, colors, fonts.

An email signature generator tool can be found on my.pcom.edu [Resources for Employees tab].
